HEDP Is Developing New Financial Aid Program

A financial aid program tailored to the needs of low-income, disadvantaged and minority high school and junior high school students on the Monterey Peninsula is being developed by the Human and Educational Development Program (HEDP) at Monterey Peninsula College.

The Advance Commitment Program, according to HEDP

'On Post'

Registration
Ends Soon

Registration for Monterey Peninsula College's "On Post" education program at Fort Ord is now in progress and will continue through January 31.

Eleven classes will be offered at the post from January 31, through March 23. The courses offered will be credit classes which are transferable to four-year institutions in California and around the country. The "On Post" program, while especially designed for military personnel and their dependents, is open to all high school graduates and to all others 18 years of age and older who may profit from further education.

Classes will be offered in political science, psychology, English, economics, accounting, administration of justice (police science), history, oceanography, mathematics and photography. Classes meet from 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. in the college education center, Building 1004, Division Hill Street.

Registration is being conducted at the Education Counseling Office at Fort Ord, Building 1047, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Military personnel under 21 may enroll free; military persons over 21 will be charged $5; civilians under 21 may take the civilians over 21 will be charged $13.

Classes will meet twice weekly either on Mondays and Wednesdays or on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

All of the classes offered in the "On Post" program are also offered in the full spring semester MPC evening program.

student director Otis Stevenson, will give potential high school drop-outs an incentive for continuing through high school and on to post-high school education.

Under the program, qualified high school and junior high school students would have $50 placed in a special trust fund for them for every two quarters completed in junior and senior high school. The trust fund would be applied to financing college or technical training beyond the high school level. By the time a student is ready to enter college or enroll in a training program, he could have up to $400 in financial aid waiting for him.

The financial aid offered high school and junior high students is only part of the Advance Commitment Program, Stevenson points out. In addition, HEDP will provide tutorial help for students to assist them in bringing up their grades. Field trips and conferences will be sponsored to help develop the motivation necessary to succeed in the students' desired programs.

Aid recipients are selected for the program on the basis of financial need and potential. Low income students in grades nine through twelve are nominated by school principals and then interviewed by the MPC financial aid officer, student director of HEDP, associate dean of student personnel and dean of student personnel.

"The idea behind the program is to encourage kids to stick it out in school and to go on to get training that will help them in later life," says Stevenson.

In order for students to receive the money set aside in the trust fund, they must graduate from high school and verify that they are enrolled in college or a technical training program. Students may enroll at schools other than MPC and still receive the money, says Stevenson, "but we're going to encourage them to come here."

Although some funds are currently available for this program, he adds, more money is needed so that more students can be helped. HEDP is seeking support from the community in establishing the Advance Commitment Program. Those wishing to get more information about the program should call Stevenson at 375-9821, extension 233 or 322.

A. E. 'Andy' Barragan, Publisher

(In the absence of Mr. Barragan - by Clint Porter)

I had no idea that I would be putting my trusty pen to work again this week. But here I am. The blame has to be put someplace, so it is no more than right to put it where it belongs - right in your laps. The trouble with us was that we did not pull together in our prayer to our separate Gods. So this week we are going to do it the right way.

You can imagine a candle being burned for someone. Can you imagine two candles being burned simultaneously for the same person? The results would be a light twice as bright. Making it easier for our God to see. Can you imagine ten candles burning at the same time for the same person? Or even one hundred candles burning? Think of the light then.

Well, we are going to do even better than that. We are going to burn 15,000 candles at the same time and we are going to make the light so bright from our candles that regardless how far our God may, He can't help but see it. And to be sure that he does see it, we are going to set a time. A particular time to light our candle. We are going to blow the minds of our Gods. At exactly 9 p.m. on Friday, January 28, 1972 everyone who reads this article is going to light a candle for one of the greatest men who ever walked this earth in modern time - Mr. Andrew E. Barragan. And at the same time we are going to send thoughts through the ether of good tidings to our own individual God in our own individual way. And just sit back and watch the results. By this time next week our own editor should be writing his own column or at least

MPC To Train Soldiers For Hotel Management

Monterey Peninsula College will soon begin helping the Army re-train soldiers from Vietnam for jobs in the hotel-management industry.

The Army's Project Transition, designed to help soldiers make the adjustment from military to civilian job skills, will soon offer special six-week courses in hotel-management for returning Vietnam veterans. MPC in cooperation with the American Hotel and Motel Association (AHMA) will conduct the classes for the Army at Fort Ord. MPC is one of the few schools with a hotel-management curriculum.

Soldiers in the program will attend classes at Fort Ord for 40 hours each week before being separated from the Army. Upon completion of the six-week cycle, a graduate will receive a certificate from the AHMA which attests that he has received training approved by the association. This certificate is very valuable in applying for work since most hotels, motels and restaurants are members of the association.

All of the teaching materials for the classes, which will begin February 14, are provided by the AHMA. MPC will supply supervision and instructors for the program.

Dr. David Hopkins, associate dean of instruction at MPC, is in charge of administering the college's participation in the program.

"There are many jobs open in the hotel industry," says Hopkins, "but there are few men who receive training for the many middle-management positions that are available. Trained managers are very much in demand."

The college is looking for two part-time instructors to teach the classes at Fort Ord. Those with experience in hotel management who wish to apply should contact Hopkins at MPC 375-9821, extension 246.

Dinner Is Saturday

The 41st Annual Leaders Recognition Dinner of the Monterey Bay Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, will be held this Saturday, January 29 in the Buddhist Church Fellowship Hall in Watsonville beginning at 6:30 p.m. Featured on the program will be the presentation of the heroism award to Cub Scout Timmy Mann of San Ardo, who last summer saved a friend from drowning in the school swimming pool. The award will be presented by Council President Ariel C. Merrill.

Steve Magyar will be master of ceremonies for the dinner and Dr. Arthur E. Benoit is dinner chairman.

The Silver Fawn, the highest award that can be presented to a woman for outstanding service to youth, will be given for the first time in this council. The Silver Beaver award, the highest local award that can be given to men, will be presented to four volunteer Scout leaders, August H. Johnson will present the awards.

Mental Health Is Topic Of PWP Meeting

Mental Health will be the subject discussed at tomorrow (Friday) evening's meeting of Parents Without Partners. The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. at the Estrada Adobe. It is open to the public.

Lt. Col. Robert S. Nichols, Chief Psychologist and Mental Hygiene Consultant at Fort Ord will be the guest speaker. Nichols is a knowledgeable and interesting speaker with wide experience in community mental health within the United States and Germany.

There will be a question and answer period at the conclusion during which interested parties may learn more about the aims and activities of PWP. For information call 373-2795.

Meeting Is Tomorrow

Twenty-one years of community service in alcoholism will be celebrated at the annual luncheon meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Council on Alcoholism tomorrow (Friday), at the Elks Club in Monterey at 12 noon.

Speaker for the occasion will be Herman J. Kregel who served as president of the Council while on duty as head chaplain at Fort Ord in 1974. Chaplain (Col.) Kregel has served since military retirement in the alcoholism field as religious coordinator for the California State Department of Public Health, Division on Alcoholism and since 1968 as Director of Alcohol Studies and Clergy Training, Pacific School of Religion.

Major General E. K. Wright, USA (Ret.), now president of the Council, stated that Chaplain Kregel has played a significant role in bringing down the walls of silence which have surrounded the alcoholic and the whole subject of alcoholism for so long.

General Wright urged all concerned members of the public to attend the Council's annual meeting as a demonstration of this community's support for action on a problem which needlessly afflicts thousands of Peninsula families.

Luncheon reservations should be phoned to Council headquarters in Carmel, 624-2256.

Monterey Peninsula Choral Society announces registration for the Spring Term, Wednesday, January 26, 7 p.m. at Fremont Junior High School Kimball Avenue, Seaside.

KingStudents Schools To Help POW's Be Closed Tomorrow

Members of the Avant Garde Club at Martin Luther King Junior High School in Seaside tried to raise enough money last year to send a student to France during the summer. They fell short of that goal, but have now decided on another use for the funds they collected. They're going to turnover the entire $187.41 in their treasury to Help Us Help Them - an organization dedicated to helping Prisoners of War.

Principal Kenneth G. Dunbar said the money will be handed over immediately. Each student in the club will receive a bracelet with the name of the Prisoner of War engraved on it.

Members of the club for French language students are Terry Wharton, Becky Lee, Cheryl Peterson, Merri Clem, Florence Myles, Robin Rosaro, David McFarland, Marc Mayes, Susie Banks, Sharon Reed and David Banks. They earned the money by staging bake sales, car washes and other activities.

All schools in the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District will be closed tomorrow (Friday), Dr. James Harrison, associate superintendent, has announced.

Although it will be a holiday for students, teachers and other school employees will be working a full day, Dr. Harrison said.

"The purpose is to provide inservice training activities for teachers and to give them a work day to prepare for the second semester," he explained. "Both types of activities are designed to improve instruction in the classroom." A similar work day for teachers was held last year.

All schools that operate playgrounds will have their playgrounds open and supervised by physical education and recreation aides between noon and 4 p.m. tomorrow.

Students will resume classes when the second semester begins, on January 31.

Apply For Scholarships

The Ft. Ord Thrift Shop has given its annual proceeds of $5,250 to the Thrift Shop Scholarship Fund.

The fund will cover seven $750 scholarships to go to high school seniors this year.

To be eligible for a scholarship, an applicant must be a military dependent (active, retired or deceased), resident in the area covered by the Ft. Ord complex, which includes the Presidio of Monterey, Hunter Liggett Military Reservation and Camp Roberts and a 1972 high school graduate, who has maintained a 3.0 grade-point average out of a possible 4.0.

Application may be made through high school counselors. Completed application forms must be mailed to Scholarship Chairman, The Thrift Shop, 2d St. and 2d Ave., Ft. Ord, Calif. 93941 and must reach the Thrift Shop no later than midnight April 21.

Selection of the recipient will be made by the Scholarship Committee and approved by the Thrift Shop Executive Board. Alternates will be selected to receive the scholarship if it is refused by the original winner, or if the winner is disqualified for any reason.

If any money is left after tuition is paid the remainder is to be spent on related college expenses, such as books and student fees.

Recipients of the Scholarships will be notified by mail at the close of the school year, 1972.

FESTIVE OCCASION - Members of Fort Ord Non-Commissioned Officers Wives Club recently held their annual installation dinner. This formal affair was attended by these regally attired beauties. (See story for details)

Officers Are Derby Date Announced Installed

The Ft. Ord Non-Commissioned Officers Wives Club held an installation dinner at the post's NCO Club to welcome new officers into the organization recently.

Guest speaker was Mrs. F. G. Moore, wife of the commanding general of Ft. Ord, and also honorary president. She remarked that without the non-commissioned officer there would be no Army and that the main support to the military husband is the wife.

Prior to the installation ceremony, Mrs. Moore presented Mrs. Henry Wyr with a plaque for outstanding service as a Ft. Ord Red Cross representative.

The candlelight installation ceremony followed with Mrs. Claude Clark, wife of the post's command sergeant major and also honorary vice president, introducing the newly-elected board members.

The executive board members for 1972 are: Mrs. Albert Schimmelman, president (second term); Henry Chavez, vice president; Joe Chavez, recording secretary; Orion Davis, corresponding secretary; Joseph DeVita, treasurer; Charles Poole, assistant treasurer (second term); William Cockerham, entertainment chairman (second term); and Don Oats, historian.

For the third year, the Young Adults For Action will sponsor the annual Little Soap Box Derby. The race will be held Saturday, March 25, at noon. This event is mainly geared toward youngsters who ordinarily would not have the opportunity to enter the National Soap Box Derby competition. Many families cannot afford to spend $25 to $40 to build a real racer, so YAFSA sells them the wheels at 50 cents apiece, which is a considerable savings. Only the wheels sold by YAFSA may be used in the race.

To kick the derby off, there will be the annual Free Pancake Breakfast the morning of the race. Following the race, at 3 p.m., everyone is invited to King Junior High School for a barbeque dinner with all the trimmings. Donation for the dinner will be $1.

At the dinner, first, second and third place trophies will be awarded. A special award will be given to the "Best Looking Cart." All proceeds from this event will go to the YAFSA Recreation Program.

The derby is open to youngsters 8 through 13. For more information, contact George Solomon, YAFSA Recreation Director, 445 Palm Avenue, Seaside or by calling 899-2521 or 2522.

dictating it to one of his subordinates. Let's not forget the time and date: Friday, January 28, 1972, at 9 p.m. See you then.

This is not to be considered as a religious "pray-in", or any religious-type ritual. We are only using our minds together (at the same time) to bring about a desired result, so let's not get lost in the confusion and thereby lose the results. In a wider sense, let's not confuse levels of abstraction - confusing what is inside our minds and thoughts with what is outside - all the time. Our only goal and desire is that this plea in the form of the candles will aid our dear friend in a speedy recovery. In order for this not to fail, we all are going to have faith. Faith - the dictionary defines it as "belief; trust; fidelity; honesty." Real faith - if I may so term presenting ourselves and perceiving - begins when the dictionary is put down, when you are done with it. Belief (faith) is very essential to actuality. In Stravinsky's ballet, the director of the wandering marionette show wants to point out to the people at the annual fair that the pierrot who terrified them is nothing but a bunch of straw in clothes. He reaches and tears it asunder. Then collapses, gibbering. For on the roof of the booth he saw the "living" Petrouchka sitting and laughing at him. He had become so wrapped up in his marionettes that he actually believed them to be alive and well. He had lost his faith in the actual fact. A very famous and controversial Minister/Congressman once coined the phrase: "Keep the Faith, Baby!" Most people misunderstood that phrase to be slang in it's worse form. And coming from a Minister/Congressman, was considered blasphemous. It in fact, helped to ruin his reputation.

People are not ready for explanations for the actions of others. They are only ready to condemn without condonation. This brings to mind a personal experience of mine a few weeks ago. In fact it was New Year's Eve. I chanced to find myself in the vicinity of Cannery Row in Old Monterey at lunch time. I had stopped in this cozy coffee shop that had been converted from a boiler room for cooking salmon when the Row was "jumping." As I walked in, a middle-aged gentleman had the floor and was just "rapping" about nothing in particular when a young lady happened in behind me. He immediately was drawn to the young beautiful lady either by her charm or her unconventional way of dress, but he produced a piece of paper which turned out to be a napkin from the table nearby. From this piece of paper he read to her a poem. She was very touched by it, and the fact that this gentleman had chosen her to recite the poem to. When he had finished I approached him and asked to read it. He gave it to me and I asked him if I could put in our newspaper. My telling you this can not describe the look on this person's face. And the unmistakable pleasure he received just by my mentioning I thought it may be worthy of being put in a newspaper. He told me he writes poetry two or three times a day and just throws them away or more often than not, he gives them to passing people. The poem was published. He said it was a description of himself that he just scribbled while reminiscing of the old days. It was titled: "The Sea Freaks." Perhaps some of you read it. The writer was overjoyed when he received a copy of the paper in the mail and in thanking the newspaper for their kindness he broke into tears. His faith in humanity has now been restored. His latest poem is titled: "Thanks for Stopping By."

As I See It

By Mel Vercoe

Attended a meeting a few evenings ago at the Martin Luther King Junior High School, where some Seaside citizens got together to discuss community problems. I was reminded of accounts I had read of the Town Forums that were once popular in New England and of the public forums the Romans made good use of many generations ago.

At the Seaside meeting we talked about everything from local and national politics to law enforcement, and had a real good thing going about what to do about employment in a community that could use more jobs. A suggestion was made that our students could use trade schools to learn skills not now being taught, but then somebody pointed out that there was little point in teaching trade skills if there are no jobs available.

We talked about the chances of getting new industries to locate here, and the problem then arose as to where exactly could such industries build their plants, because Seaside has definite boundaries and has very little open space left. The possibility that an end to the war might find Fort Ord with more land area than it needed was discussed, and apparently this was not a brand new idea.

The problems of adequate housing and of taxes were dealt with, toward which I contributed my own observation that some of these problems would not be so bad if so much money was not being wasted on senseless projects designed in Washington, D.C.

I left the meeting with mixed feelings of hope and frustration. I found hope in the fact that people of widely varying interests and opinions could meet and work together to try to find answers that would benefit the whole community, not just the individuals at the meeting, but I was dismayed that only a relative handful of people cared to take the time to attend. I believe this lack of interest in public affairs is largely responsible for some of the difficulties facing us.

Some time ago I tried to get to some interest aroused in holding community forums, and had some success when I presented topics that could compete in excitement with watching the boob-tube, but in general not many people are that much interested in taxes or human needs to dress up and go two or three miles to help find answers to common needs.

I am just tickled no end that Dick Bragg has been able to establish such a forum with his "Feedback" talk show on KIDD from 7 to 9 during the week, and maybe this is the answer. People can contribute their ideas or question proposals without either getting dresses up or going out in the cold.

To Higher Ground

By George Herman

Man, reach up!
Look only forward!
Become ever nobler!
Outgrow immaturity!
Gain greater wisdom!
Avoid sapping habits!
Master savage instincts!
Advance to higher ground!
Scale the peak of nobility!
Your very future depends on it!

The Black church has been in the process of introducing its people to a God who reminded them they were somebody though the world said they were nobody.

MIGHTY 63

Anyone who has small children knows how easily their curiosity can lead them into unfamiliar surroundings. Once in a while they can get a little too far away and find themselves "lost."

If you take the time to teach your child his phone number, though, you can be pretty sure that he'll never really get lost. If he ever does lose his way, all he needs to do is ask someone to call you.

When you pay your phone bill by mail, or in person, please remember to return the punched payment card. It helps us make sure your payment is properly credited to your account. When you return the payment card by mail, please be sure that the address is showing through the envelope window, and that the envelope is sealed with the adhesive on the flap, rather than tape. If you pay in person, we would also appreciate your bringing the bill with you.

The next time you need information about your telephone service, check the front of your phone book. To make it easier, we've included an index that tells you where to find long distance calling information, Area Codes, local calling areas, prefix locations, and other helpful information. And on the inside cover, we've provided spaces for you to keep numbers you might need in an emergency for the doctor, police, and fire department.

Today's Army NEWS

By

Sgt. Jose Garcia

U.S. ARMY RECRUITER

In our past columns we have mentioned only the opportunities available for young men in TODAY'S ARMY. Well, this week I would like to devote this column to the opportunities available for young women the Women's Army Corps.

Girls go places in the Women's Army Corps.
TODAY'S ARMY offers full instruction in administration and communication jobs, in dental and medical technologies, in finance, personnel, public information, transportation and dozens of other fields. Many of these jobs are not open in other organizations to girls out of high school, without years of further education or experience.

Furthermore, a girl may be able to select the type of work she wants to do. Most girls find other advantages in TODAY'S ARMY just as attractive as the good jobs and good training. Travel opportunities, direct associations with interesting people and places, personal maturity and responsibility are all worthwhile considerations for a girl who'd like to link her future with her Country's.

So if you would like to serve your Country in a proud and responsible effort, please call us at 372-4742 for information on enlistment options in TODAY'S ARMY for young women or stop by 431 Webster Street in Monterey.

Among our visitors to the office recently included Phil Burrows of Marina. SP5 Burrows is stationed at Ft. Riley, Kansas with the First Infantry Division (Big Red One) as a First Cook. Our other visitor is Richard Tirado also of Marina. SSG Tirado is stationed at Ft. Campbell, Kentucky with the 101st Airborne Division. I hope our readers join me in wishing them the best of luck as they return to their duty stations after a short leave here on the Peninsula.

Youth Concert Is February 5

This year, the 17th annual Youth Concerts on Saturday, February 5, will be sponsored by the American Association of University Women and the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra.

There will be two separate hour-long concerts. The first performance will be given at Monterey Peninsula College
Gym-Auditorium at 11 a.m.
The second concert is scheduled for 2:30 p.m. in the Salinas High School Auditorium.

All Peninsula children will have an opportunity to enjoy live orchestral music at no cost. Although the program is primarily geared to fourth through eighth graders, younger children are welcome if accompanied by an adult. Children will be supervised by ushers from the Salinas and Monterey branches of American Association of University Women. Bussing will handled by various school systems.

Haymo Taeuber, Music Director and Conductor, has chosen the varied program including a polka and a Persian March by Strauss, "The Nutcracker" Suite from Tchaikovsky's ballet, a portion of Wagner's opera entitled "Lohengrin" and a symphonic poem by Bedrich Smetana.

Monterey Peninsula College and Salinas High School have generously donated space and Mr. Taeuber, with the members of the Monterey Symphony Orchestra, will offer their time and talents to provide an exciting occasion for our children.

Another visitor stopped by also. Only he will remain at home in Seaside. Bill Nannie has just been discharged under TODAY'S ARMY early release program. Bill was stationed at Sacramento Army Depot, as a Reproducing Equipment Repairman. He also served Korea. Bill enlisted in July of 1969 after graduation from Seaside High School. Thanks a lot Bill and we wish you the best in your future endeavor.

Fog Dangers

"Fog, the deadliest of all winter weather problems faced by drivers, is a major contributor to one of the most common of bad weather accidents, the rear end collision," California Highway Patrol Commissioner Harold W. Sullivan reminds drivers.

"But, there is something drivers can do to cut down the possibility of being involved in this kind of accident," he says.

"The only way the car behind you can tell where you are or what you are going to do in those conditions is by your tail lights and stop lights.

"To insure the best possible visibility, don't let road film or mud cover up your rear lights.

BEAR FLAG

The Bear Flag was adopted as the official California State Flag in 1911.

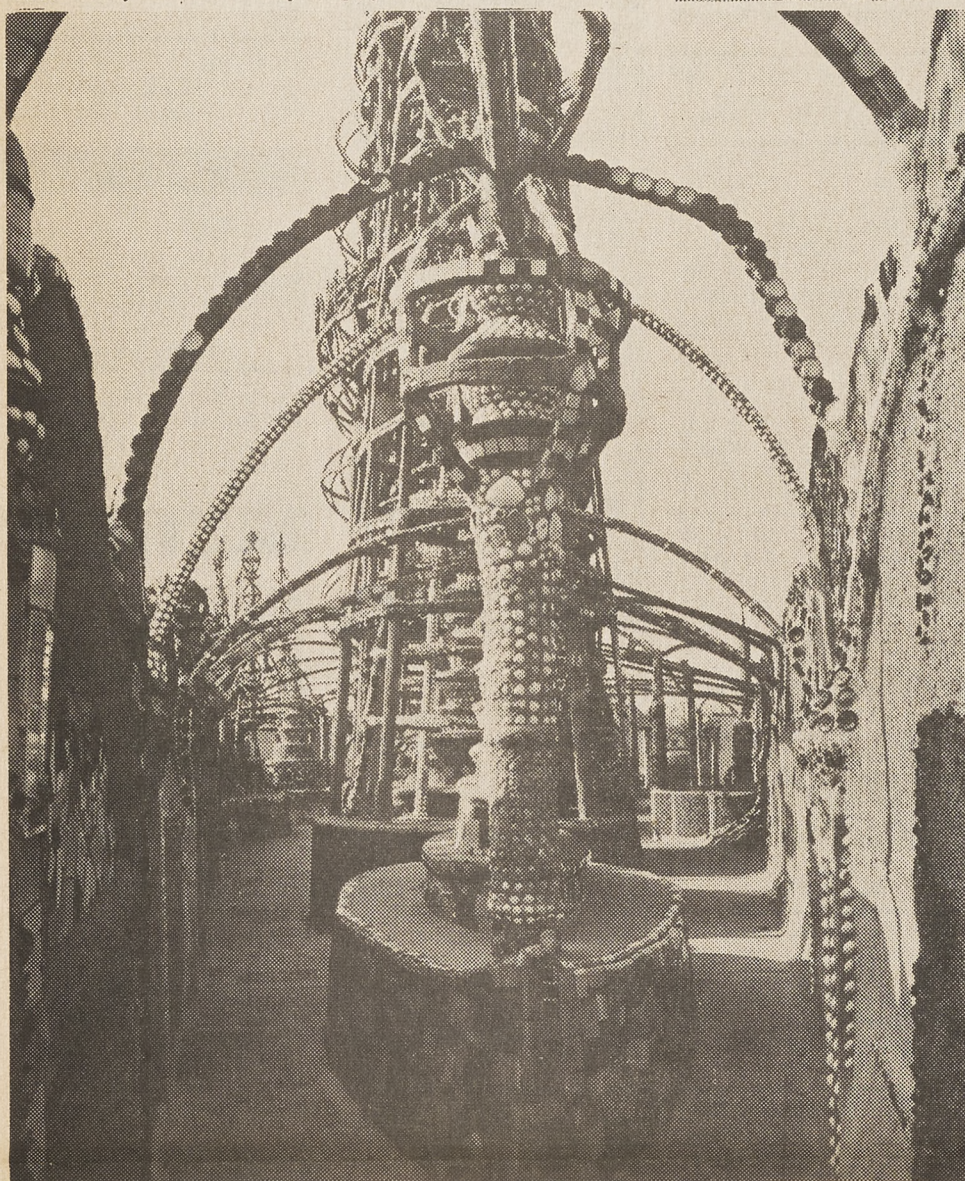

Fantasy In Watts

When Simon Rodia, long-time resident of the Watts district of Los Angeles, was asked why he devoted 33 years of his life building what became known as the Watts Towers, he said: "I wanted to do something in the United States because I was raised here, you understand? I wanted to do something for the United States because there are nice people in this country."

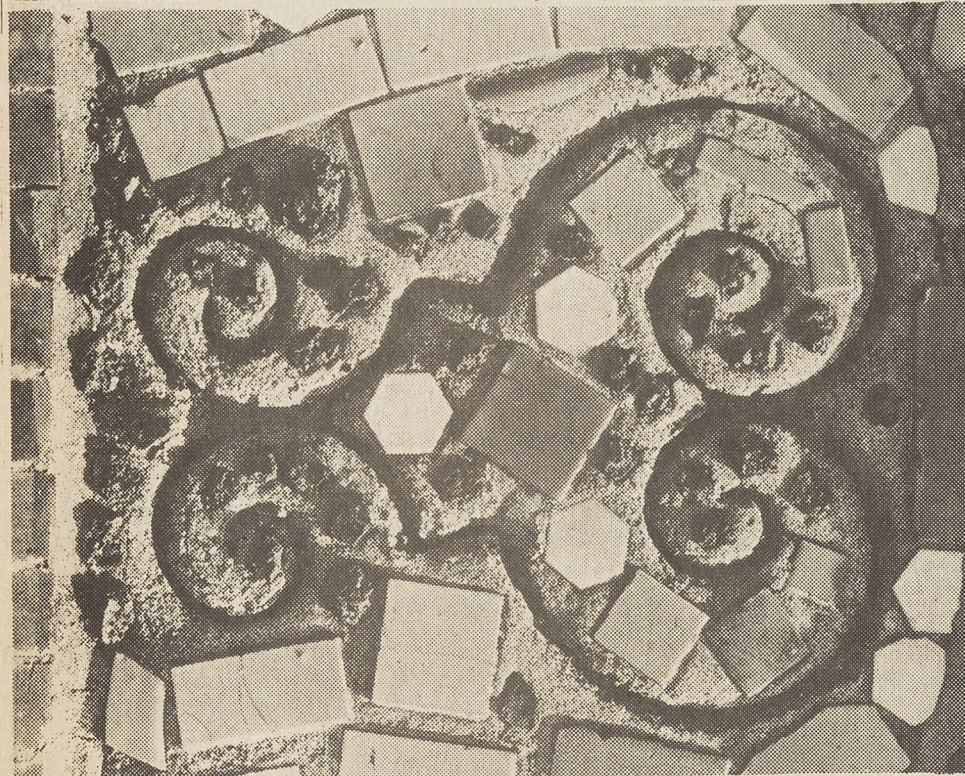

What he did was build a fantasy world--using whatever was at hand or whatever he could find. And when he decided his work was done, he deeded the property to a neighbor and moved away, but he left behind much of his feeling for life in the Towers.

That feeling can be captured by any visitor to Los Angeles who strays from its crowded freeways and neon lights.

About a year before Rodia's death in 1959, a slide lecture on his fantastic creation in Watts drew a standing-room-only crowd in Dwinelle Hall at UC-Berkeley. As the hall's lights went on at the close of the lecture, it was discovered that Simon Rodia was in the audience. Grinning broadly, Rodia gratefully acknowledged the prolonged applause of those around him, shook the many proffered hands, then left, an obviously happy man.

ONE MAN'S FANTASY - Visitors to Watts Towers pay tribute to creator Simon Rodia for his intricate maze of arches, spires and lacy designs reminiscent of world of make-believe--of Camelot, Alice in Wonderland, Hansel and Gretel houses of gingerbread. He worked entirely alone, saying "I no have anybody to help me out. Had to do a little at a time. I think if I hire a man he don't know what to do. A million times I don't know what to do myself."

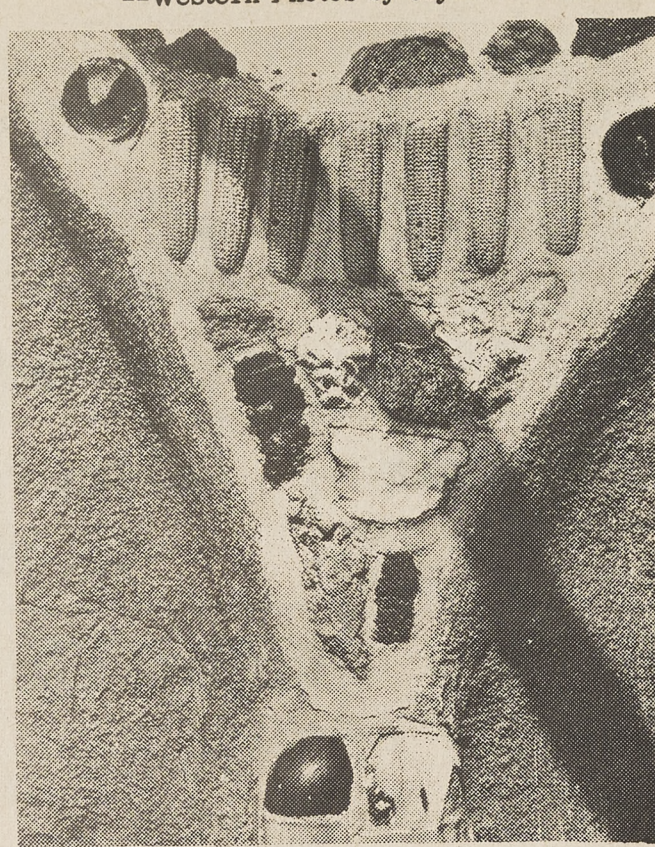

BITS AND PIECES - Rodia used simple tools, rocks, seashells, fragments of pottery, tile and glass to create and improvise walls, benches, columns and arches.

STYLIZED - Pressing wrought iron patterns in wet concrete was one of design methods used by Rodia. Here he chose daisies, scrolls and spirals of varied sizes and shapes.

EARLY ECOLOGIST?

Rodia's creations--every one of them different -- recycled whatever was close at hand, from corn cobs to rocks, from broken pottery and bottles to seashells.

Tax-Free Proposal By Petris

State Senator Nicholas C. Petris (D-Alameda County) has introduced legislation to exempt any automobile that meets the 1975 federal air pollution standards before the 1975 federal deadline from paying any state taxes. The purpose of the bill is to encourage the auto industry and private inventors to develop pollution-free autos early.

Exempt under the bill would be all sales and use taxes, license fees, registration fees, bridge tolls and gas taxes. The Air Resources Board would certify that each car complied, but the owner would be required to pay a fee to defray the costs of the test.

Petris noted that air pollution is getting worse, not better. In Los Angeles which has four million registered cars, air pollution in 1970 was the worst since 1956, according to the pollution control officer there. In the Tahoe air basin, air pollution is considered the number one problem.

Disability Insurance In 25th Year

California's peace-setting State Disability Insurance system observes its silver anniversary this month.

The 25-year-old system was the second to go into effect in the nation. (Rhode Island was first.) When it started, the system covered some 4.2 million wage-earners. Today, the figure is nearly 5.6 million.

California began early to set trends in the disability insurance field--it was the first state to offer the option of voluntary private plans. In 1961, it extended coverage to agricultural workers. In 1963, it was opened to the self-employed. It is the only plan in the nation to pay an additional hospital benefit.

During calendar 1970, California's system processed nearly 687,237 original claim applications, handled another 2,330,479 continuing claims and paid out some $315 million.

Not everyone who receives disability insurance payments from the State of California is actually living in the state. The system is entirely State-funded and subject only to State control. Employees pay their own premiums.

Those covered include, among others, merchant seamen and even agricultural workers who commute from Mexico. All claims are paid by checks sent to each claimant's home mailing address. Claims are filed by mail or in person.

There are 21 California Disability Insurance offices throughout the State.
